MORE THAN JUST EUROPE

Horst Haitzinger Antiquity in political caricatures

mindelheimer museen südschwäbisches archäologiemuseum

Horst Haitzinger is well known to many newspaper readers for his accurate political caricatures.

In over 60 years, he has created some 16,000 caricatures, including some watercolours. What is less well known is that he often made use of comparisons and references from Greek and Roman Antiquity. His work features not only buildings such as the Colosseum or the Parthenon in Athens, but also a wide variety of mythical figures from Europe, ranging from Sisyphus to the Trojan horse.

Egyptians, the Stone Age and even scenes from Asterix are also to be found.

This exhibition, which was conceived by the Limesmuseum Ruffenhofen, shows about 150 original works with brief commentaries. The exhibition thus presents very different insights into contemporary history and antiquity.
